2). Metro Police Department Adopt a Bus Stop Program – Officer John Kossie

Officer Kossie spoke about Metro’s Adopt-a-Shelter program and anti-crime and graffiti efforts. Individuals or businesses may “adopt” a bus or train stop shelter. Participants are asked to keep an eye out for prevent vagrancy, trash, and graffiti and to report any suspicious activity to METRO police. In exchange, they may get their name on a plaque and also METRO ride passes. With approval, participants can decorate the shelters (but no advertising). There are 12,000 bus/train stops & shelters, so lots are available for adoption. More information on Adopt a Shelter can be found at web link: <http://www.ridemetro.org/SafetySecurity/MPDPrograms/AdoptStop.aspx> .
